You flicker like a mile high neon sign
Hot and cold so no-one knows your mind
I was gonna let you win but I won't break
For an hour I held the moon on a string
Now this moments left till the world begins
Everything is possible, it's beautiful

When will you wake up, see what's happening Right before your eyes no If you must blow hot and cold, take a swing You will hit the target every time

And so I look before I leaap and I see Wolves are at the door with my enemies I was gonna let them win but then you say Watch the stars defeating my enemy It's too far for them to bring you to me Everything is possible, it's beautiful

When will you wake up see whats happening Right before your eyes no If you must blow hot and cold, take a swing You will hit the target every time (2x)

I reached the water's edge
I wished that I could hold everybody's breath
Until no-one has any left
You take me to the edge
You're being to called to follow, the footprints that I left be hind
Listen up, I'll sing to you how I can
Out of luck, now time is all that we have
Think about yourself and you'll kill all you love
I know our makers love all the mess the make
Out of sight behind these eyes you'll stay
Where everything is possible, it's beautiful

When will you wake up see whats happening Right before your eyes, no If you must blow hot and cold take a swing You will hit the target every time (2x)
