

The Best That I Can Give

Emerson Hart

If you're reading this then I'm long gone
Wish I'd had the strength to prove you wrong
But instead I broke your heart of glass
Some things I guess you can't get-
Back when we started before the storm came, I gave you sometimes, you needed always Thought we were fine, but you saw it first
Now I can give you the life you deserve, so-
Goodbye love, hang on to the long night
There's beauty in the sunrise, and you will find that
Goodbye is the hardest thing that I could do
But after the pain I put you through
It's the best that I can give, the best that I can give to you
It's so hard to see it come to this, when the truth is blinded by the wish
Instead of bending I just watched you break, and now it's too late
Back when we started before the storm came, I gave you sometimes, you needed always

Thought we were fine but you saw it first, now I can give you the life you deserve so-
Goodbye love, hang on to the long night
There's beauty in the sunrise, and you will find that
Goodbye is the hardest thing that I could do
But after the pain I put you through
It's the best that I can give, the best that I can give to you
We'll always have this after the broken when all that was given is not forgotten
So goodbye love, hang on to the long night
There's beauty in the sunrise
Goodbye is the hardest thing that I could do
But after the pain I put you through
It's the best that I can give, the best that I can give to you
If you're reading this then I'm long gone
Wish I'd had the strength to prove you wrong
But instead I broke your heart of glass
Some things I guess you can't get back