

Concussion

Emery

You can't stop your fate
There's never been a reason to try
Survive and take the best parts of life when you go

Lying face-down on the pavement
Broken gravel under my skin
I can't recall how I got here
Just give me a chance to catch my breath

Slow this down, time speeds up
Follow the setting sun
There's no mistakes, only moments we learn
The days that we regret are the days we won't forget

Oh how life kills innocence
(The dreams float away in the wind)
Memories run in circles in my head
(We lose every lesson we learned)
We guard and protect from the things that we need and
Watch as the strongest ones become the weakest
If only life could stay this way
(Life could stay this way)

Bump on my head, cuts on my chest
Black out, wake up, do it again
Carry me home, just need some rest
I swear those days I'll never forget

Slow this down, time speeds up
Follow the setting sun
There's no mistakes, only moments we learn

Oh, how life kills innocence
(The dreams float away in the wind)
Memories run in circles in my head
(We lose every lesson we learned)
We guard and protect from the things that we need and
Watch as the strongest ones become the weakest
If only life could stay this way
(Life could stay this way)
(Life could stay this way)
(Life could stay this way)
(Life could stay)

This pain that you are feeling
Lasts only for a while
Your righteous indignation
Hijacks your worried mind
Don't run away from the strain
Don't settle for the lies
Just hold on to the moment
And focus on the prize

This pain that you are feeling
Lasts only for a while
Your righteous indignation
Hijacks your worried mind

Don't run away from the strain
Don't settle for the lies
Just hold on to the moment
And focus on the prize