

The Other Side

Emile Haynie

I can only hope to slip away from them all
Because it numb my pain
That I was never quite enough for you
I was never quite enough for you
(It's hard to have nowhere to go)

I can only hope to slip away from them all
Because it numb my pain
That I was never quite enough for you
Cause I was never quite enough for you
(It's hard to have nowhere to go)

All my thoughts, all my dreams
All got caught in-between
All of my heart was never quite enough for you

And I will fight my way, I know
To the other side
Where you don't even matter no more
You're running out of time
I will fight my way, I know
To the other side
Where you don't even matter no more
You don't even matter no more

(You get caught in the fire when we launched it up [x16])

I can only hope to slip away from them all
Because it numb my pain
That I was never quite enough for you
I was never quite enough for you
(It's hard to have nowhere to go)

All my thoughts, all your dreams
All got caught in-between
All of my heart was never quite enough for you

You don't even matter no more [x8]