

Blue Toothbrush

Emily Kinney

Do you have my blue toothbrush?
I left it near the bathroom sink
It's been a couple months, I think

You tossed it, if I had to guess
I hope it never caused you stress
I know how you don't like a mess

You rarely have the time each day
To deal with tooth or heart decay
Of someone who's a million miles away

But still I thought that I could stay

I've been thinking about
Winter mornings, talking in your bed
Sleepy eyes, head raised
Blue head dreams, waiting in my head
I take a shower and brush my teeth
Put my toothbrush down, where it is easy to reach

I've been thinking about
Harlem sidewalks, New York morning winds
Capel talk, lips locked
Now a shore, wasn't sure if I had to loose
Coffee, a kiss, and rains and brand
Prue half hour and sure be again

Have you seen my blue toothbrush?
I left it near the bathroom sink
It's been a couple months, I think

Yeah, if you kept my blue toothbrush
I don't mean to push or rush
You should have a real nice place
A toothbrush doesn't take much space

Maybe you could keep it there
I should be back in May of next year
Can't tell if it's wrong or right
But you should know, that toothbrush keeps me up at night

If you don't want my blue toothbrush
I'll take it back on we next meet
Just trying to help you keep things neat
