

Those That Die

Emitt Rhodes

Are those that died so soon forgotten
That we won't miss one more?
Are those who live the ones that profit
By fear and hate and war?

The sacred life this holy garden
This swirling mass we call our home
Let no one rest through out the planet
Until the cannons sound their final tone