

Long For

Emma Bale

Was it something in the water?
Was it something that I said?
'Cause you've turned colder
I can't feel your touch
Think you got me cornered
You got inside my head
Maybe it's a trauma
From loving you too much

Oh, I think we're losing touch and maybe I should
Know that some things fall apart, even we do
I should care a little less but it came unexpected
When you turned round and said

I'm no longer what you long for
Not the one you wanna fight for no more
I'm not stuck inside your head
Now I wish I could forget
I'm no longer what you long for
I'm no longer what you long for
I'm no longer what you long for

[?] to notice
You are already far ahead
Why is it that you collapsed
When I [?]
And now you got me cornered
You got inside my head
I'm sure you didn't think of us
While laying in another bed

Oh, I think we're losing touch and maybe I should
Know that some things fall apart, even we do
I should care a little less but it came unexpected
When you turned round and said

I'm no longer what you long for
Not the one you wanna fight for no more
I'm not stuck inside your head
Now I wish I could forget
I'm no longer what you long for
I'm no longer what you long for
I'm no longer what you long for

No longer what you long for
Not the one you wanna fight for no more
I'm not stuck inside your head
Now I wish I could forget
I'm no longer what you long for
I'm no longer what you long for
I'm no longer what you long for