Emmy the Great

You say that love is hard
You say you love me like a sister
And then you walk me to the café where the drinks cost more than music

All those people tapping keys
Where once they would read magazines
Take me walking through the screens (?)
Tell me all your broken dreams

And I'm trying to find the words for
I can help you out with love

So I say love, love, love
Love is the answer
Oh, but I, I'm a comfortable liar

Love, love, love
Love is the answer
Love is the answer in the end
In the end

You know I like to make you laugh
(Oh, I like to make you laugh)
That's why you love me without passion
(That's why you love me without passion)
And then you walk me to the café where the drinks cost more than music
And then the day just slips away

And I know love, love, love
Love is the answer
Oh, but I, I'm a comfortable liar

Love, love, love
Love is the answer
Love is the answer in the end
In the end

I know...
In the end
I know...
(Yeah!)

Love, love, love
Love, love, love
I know love, love, love
Love is the answer

Love, love, love
Love, love, love
I know love, love, love
Love is the answer
Love is the answer in the end
In the end
