

Blame

Emre Aydın

Damaged on the inside, wherever I roam
See me on the outside and you're the one
Thought that I could keep you like we weren't stuck
Suddenly you hate me, just my luck

I don't wanna blame myself letting you just go
It's tearing me up inside to live this life alone

And I don't know if I can make it right
It's hard for me to even tell
If I've done something wrong now that you're gone
I'm begging for a little help
Baby, tell me, that it's just not my fault
Baby, tell me, 'cause I don't wanna blame myself

If only I could of a reason why
Gone through every memory a thousand times
Thought that we were perfect but here we are
Do you even care that you left me scarred

I don't wanna blame myself letting you just go
It's tearing me up inside to live this life alone

And I don't know if I can make it right
It's hard for me to even tell
If I've done something wrong now that you're gone
I'm begging for a little help
Baby, tell me, that it's just not my fault
Baby, tell me, 'cause I don't wanna blame myself

I look at you but you don't feel the things that I do
I can't believe we said goodbye

I don't wanna blame myself letting you just go
It's tearing me up inside to live this life alone

And I don't know if I (know if I) can make it right (make it right)
It's hard for me to even tell
If I've done something wrong (something wrong) now that you're gone (that you're gone)
I'm begging for a little help
Baby, tell me, that it's just not my fault
Baby, tell me, 'cause I don't wanna blame myself