

Leper

END

Not only I, but all who exist become (Become)
A memoriam repressed
Not only I, but all who exist concede (Concede)
In place of repentance
Pray for pain and feel nothing

Bathed by burning winds that echo a war's end
No hostage held herein will attain atonement
Suturing frayed nerves as fire rains
The numb and undeserving pray for pain (And feel nothing)

Everything animate was torn from a cursed womb:
Partially decayed and predisposed to plause, like lepers wrapped in rags
Cloak the world in blame
Like lepers wrapped in rags
Hoping to contain and eradicate the damned

Not only I, but all who exist become (Become)
A memoriam repressed
Not only I, but all who exist concede (Concede)
In place of repentance
Pray for pain and feel nothing

Suturing frayed nerves as fire rains
The numb and undeserving pray for pain (And feel nothing)

Cloak the world in blame
Like lepers wrapped in rags
Hoping to contain and eradicate the damned
Cloak the world in blame
Like lepers wrapped in rags
Hoping to contain and eradicate the damned
Bathed by burning winds (Cloak the world in blame)
That echo a war's end (Like lepers wrapped in rags)
No hostage held herein (Hoping to contain)
Will attain atonement
The numb and undeserving pray for pain

Not only I, but all embrace sudden death
Not only I, but all embrace sudden death
Not only I, but all embrace sudden death