

Angel on My Shoulder

Engelbert Humperdinck

I've always been a lucky one, or so it seems
I was born when all the best was yet to be
I've seen the birth of rock 'n' roll
And many things no one imagined
In an ever changing world of fantasy

I've had my share of ups and downs, oh and rainy days
When changing for the best was hard to see
But through it all I know inside
That everything would turn out alright
Just as if someone was watching over me

There's an angel on my shoulder
There is wonder in my eyes
As the hand of father time turns another page
With every new sunrise
And every day as I grow older
I try to be the best I can and try to understand
Angel on my shoulder
The Earth beneath my feet
I'm a lucky, lucky man

I've always seen the sunny side of every day
And tried to keep a cheerful point of view
Lucky me to find the one to love and understand me
And I do believe some fairytales come true

The years have come and gone
And nothing stays the same
The heart of me so far has never changed

I still believe in rock 'n' roll and fairytales
And looking for a smile on every face
But that's just me so here I am
Waiting for a rainbow, looking for another dream to chase
With an angel on my shoulder
There is wonder in my eyes
As the hand of father time turns another page
With every new sunrise
And every day as I grow older
I try to be the best I can and try to understand
Angel on my shoulder
Watching over me to make me who I am
And all I hope to be
Angel on my shoulder
The Earth beneath my feet
I'm a lucky, lucky man
