

Something's Breaking

Engelbert Humperdinck

The sun set
One less shadow on the water
The air is cool across my shoulder
I sit alone here on the sand
The sea bird
High in the fading light is cryin'
He can see the day is dyin'
So he turns towards the land

I got a feelin' something's breakin'
It's all coming down
There's gonna be a million pieces
Scattered here upon the ground
I can see my future fading
I have no place to start
I got a feelin' something's breakin'
And it just might be my heart

Full moonlight
Your silver road is there before me
A silent witness to my story
You know how love can come and go
At dawning
The sun will burn away the shadows
Then I will have to face tomorrow
Once again I'll be alone

I got a feelin' something's breakin'
And it's all coming down
There's gonna be a million pieces
Scattered here upon the ground
I can see my future fading
I have no place to start
I got a feelin' something's breakin'
And it just might be my heart
