Too Beautiful To Last

Engelbert Humperdinck

The days of autumn splendor Those moments warm and tender Was it to beautiful to last? The love we shared together The dreams we dared together Was it to beautiful to last?

Walking hand in hand The dawn discloses we Were dreaming of a land Where love reposes But castles made of sand Like winter roses Are fated to die My darling, like you and I My darling...

Where are those sweet Septembers The joy my heart remembers? Lost in the shadows of the past The rainbow watched above you The sacred words, I love you Why did the dream go by so fast?

Walking hand in hand The dawn discloses we Were dreaming of a land Where love reposes But castles made of sand Like winter roses Are fated to die My darling, like you and I My darling...

Where are those sweet Septembers The joy my heart remembers? Lost in the shadows of the past The rainbow watched above you The sacred words, I love you Why did that dream go by so fast? Was it to beautiful... Was it to beautiful to last?
