New Horizons

Engineers

Twin streams of traffic fix the new horizon It could happen to anyone, anytime, anywhere Keep your eyes fixed on the new horizon I could be anyone, anytime, anywhere

Wait outside suffering But nothing helps me when I'm without it Realise all hopes are dim And hope that fate decides

Turn your back, don't bare your chin And pray his memory's lasted one more year Fill your mind with thoughts of sin And hope that fate decides

Speak of conquests from within To you your docile side is weak and thin Converts to the cause are few and slim We hope that fate decides

Turn your back don't bare your chin And pray his memory's lasted one more year Fill your mind with thoughts of sin And hope that fate decides

Wait outside suffering But nothing helps me when I'm without it Realise all hopes are dim And hope that fate decides