

Beyond The Tears

England Dan & John Ford Coley

Lost again, I see it in your eyes
You feel alone again
I made it just in time to break your fall again
You thought you'd come so far
But here we are again

Down again, I see it on your face
The hope is gone just when, you thought the

Pieces fit
You fall apart again
And as I was before
Here I am again

But if you could see beyond the tears
You know love won't desert you
To see beyond the tears
You'd know I'd never hurt you
To see the sun behind the rain
Feel the joy behind the pain
You know you'd see me standing right beyond the tears

But once again, I see it in your look
You feel you've lost again
And now you are afraid to try your love again
'Cause this lonely moment feels like the end

But if you could see beyond the tears
You know love won't desert you
To see beyond the tears
You'd know I'd never hurt you
To see the sun behind the rain
Feel the joy behind the pain
You know you'd see me standing right beyond the tears

When alone turns to lonely
And loneliness to fear
It's so easy to imagine love will disappear
But love is always here

If you could see beyond the tears
You know love won't desert you
To see beyond the tears
You'd know I'd never hurt you
To see the sun behind the rain
Feel the joy behind the pain
You know you'd see me standing right beyond the tears
See me standing right beyond the tears
See me standing right beyond the tears
Right beyond the tears