

Children Of The Half-Light

England Dan & John Ford Coley

Living on hopes and dreams, pulling on old world strings
Giving our best for all that we believe
We have one destiny, to bring back unity
We're only halfway to the future we see

We are the children
Living, living in the half-light
Children of the half-light
We are lovers trying to break the darkness
With a new light, with a new life

There is a plan to build a new world
Tear down the walls, there's only one world, one world
There's really nothing left to divide us
We have the prophets' knowledge to guide us
Bahá'u'lláh

We are the children
Living, living in the half-light
Children of the half-light
We are lovers trying to break the darkness
With a new light, with a new life

There is a plan to build a new world
Tear down the walls, there's only one world
Bahá'u'lláh