

Enter The Domain

English Dogs

Riding alone, sent out with fear for my life to the unknown
Ritual below, summoning the forces of darkness
Beware
Enter the domain

Blood, fire, soul and desire
The spell, wizardry, is cast for me

Strange apparition spitting with hatred before my eyes
Deadly creation evil related attacks from the sky
Fighting with Talon, and aided by fire, destroyer from Hell
Sent from below, the creature has orders to capture my soul

I enter the domain
To fight with all my strength
I must kill or be slain
I must outrun the messenger of death

As quickly as it came, the creature disappears from sight
To return to the astral planes of
Blood, fire, soul and desire

Searching the remains, I feel fingers of ice on my spine
He is with me!
Silent as the night, creeps up like a sunset behind
I see the "D"!

Blood, fire, soul and desire
Death, sorcery, was cast for me

Carved into the hillside
A letter ten feet high
Made by hands from down below
Of warning death is nigh

First of five to mystify
Second must be blind
Must attempt to hide my eyes
On gods I rely

Look and see, he has come for me
Now I must ride into the wilds
To be alone and end my quest
Win back the stone, or lose to death

I entered the domain
To fought with all my strength
I killed and I remain
One step ahead of death