

Flashback

English Dogs

Deep inside my thoughts I can sense that it is time
To search my soul for answers and ask questions of my mind
So far I have eluded the hunter, yet I must remind myself
That I have seen what others now see through dead eyes

Onward for the stone, or let my people die
Choose safety of home, or venture for the Eye

I have faced the demons who struck terror upon my soul
I have seen two letters, three more an I behold
The coming of the messenger, his spirit to steal mine
Fortune smiles upon me, now my help is divine

To restore the balance of eternity
The stone must be returned
Before the final day

If the force of darkness still retains the stone
When the time arrives of the universe is one
Death and Armageddon will rule for eternity
Clouds of black will signal the end for you and me

Do what my heart believes
Try to retrieve the stone
Now only living for
Triumphant return home

Snapped out of my dream
Rock face seems to come alive
Burning like and ember
I stand up to defy
Face is coming at me
Human I can't say
Beaming from its foerhead
It can't be, it's an "A"