

A flame won't burn forever
When you die the world won't remember who you are
Your legacy will die with you
When you die you'll look back at your life to observe
In the end, everyone gets what they deserve
No one can change the world
You can only change the way you see it
You chose to close your eyes and let the world tell you what to believe in
Absolution is for the living
Retribution is forever bleeding
No one will care how much you bled
There is no solace for the dead
When you die the world won't remember who you are
Your legacy will die with you
When you die you'll look back at your life to observe
Heaven is denied to parasites
Despicable waste of human flesh
What will you say with your last breath
You can run but you can't hide
I am the devil tonight
No one can change the world
You can only change the way you see it
You chose to close your eyes and let the world tell you what to believe in
Absolution is for the living
Retribution is for the dead
You can run but you can't hide
I am the devil tonight
You can run but you can't hide
I am the devil tonight
Die