

Inverted Earth

Entheos

A glimpse of clarity in the haze
Of my mind burning in and out
Around on itself
Kaleidoscopic vision consume me
So let the night be still

I want to feel the arms of the earth surround me
And if it will prevent me from falling
I would gladly start over again
And if it will prevent me from falling
I would gladly start over again

(Mirror illusion of my fantasies
Those which once only awoke in daydream
Take breath and thrive within my flash
All inhibition disappears with the sunset)

(Mirror illusion of my fantasies
Those which once only awoke in daydream
Take breath and thrive within my flash
All inhibition disappears with the sunset)

Drifting somewhere between waking and dreaming

The weight of every fear is exposed
Thought I've hid them deep beneath my bones
Tightening coil of anxiety
Lingering inconsistencies brought to light
Those which can only be found when we go searching

Just like night into day
Day into night
Just like night into day
Day into night
I feel the shift