

Traveller

You're alone, growing older
Each forward, fragile moment lengthens a clearly obsolete
Mirrored reflection
Lighting the path

Traveller

Acknowledging a separation
Plain sight and ever so clearly
Each forward even fragile push an omen
Acknowledging a separation
Plain sight and so clearly
The perpetual vision
Will surely find its end

Is this consistent with any reality that you have witnessed before?

I am the creator, I am the vision
Seeking only to awaken anew
To thrive
Once again within the flesh

Nerves perplexed and over stimulated
Thoughts regress to nothing
Surviving only through the vision of a clear reflection
Breath by breath
Human vessel, universal traveller
Diminishes, infinitely

Language, guide me
Allow the words to shed light and consume me
Endless atlas
Allow the earth to shed light and consume me
So I can begin again

In preparation for the bridges I will burn, so carelessly
I carry onward
Back to life

Language, guide me
Allow the earth to shed the light and consume me
Tidal waves wash over me
And I'll begin again

Is this consistent with any reality that you have witnessed before?
I am the creator, I am the vision
Seeking only to awake anew
To thrive
Once again within the flesh