

The World Without Us

Entheos

Patience

All things will come to an end in due time
No need to hurry on
And let the future slip away, carelessly

As if, in passing suns, we hadn't learned anything
Do you remember the days we spent dreaming?
As the stars above us fall from the sky
And the void surrounds us
The end and beginning intertwine
In an unparalleled descent
We sleep easy, all in due time

There are times when
When the words seem so close to me
To act upon what I cannot speak
Color quickly running inward, we align
Together in vision and in time

Do I possess the ability to wander on?
To take control?
To exist, once and for all
Against the weight of my own reflection?

All that I had ever wanted
Was to belong to something greater than
What I had ever envisioned
I have been granted the dream
But will I ever find the courage?

In an unparalleled descent
We sleep easy all in due time
And I will face the dark with my mind open
Ears to the ground
One with every passing moment
All that I had ever wanted
Was to belong to something greater than
What I had ever envisioned
I have been granted the dream
But will I ever find the courage?
