

Drowned

Entombed

As the clouds so dark, so mighty
Hid the light of the moon from my eyes
I felt their presence even stronger
My invocation had caused them to rise
Terrors beyond the human mind
Awaiting me for thousands of years
Dimensions of another kind
Between the gates
And the ancient domains
How was
I to know that halfway on my quest
They would have me drained
They've taken my body
In control but
I bare
No anguish no malice
The god of all gods are entitled
I remember the times
I used to travel beyond
All of what is and what has been
Is gone in man's mind
They've left me now
To shiver and cry like a child
Left me with the humiliation
Of knowing,
I'm not worthy of
What's yet to come
By the dark and mighty waters
I'm standing here alone
To hear and suffer my sentence
To pay the price
I owe
I'm drowned
Terrors beyond the human mind
Awaiting me for thousands of years
Dimensions of another kind
Piercing their teeth
Into my skin and my flesh
Inner dimension beyond human conscience
I wish for only death
