

Goodbye, Goodbye

Enuff Z'Nuff

I'm such a loser and I don't know why.
I see my baby and she's looking so fine.
Loved me up until today.
I got so mad, made her go away.
I took advantage thinking I was king.
I didn't want her 'cause she did her own thing.
Guess I'm so out of touch somehow,
But I'm the one who's sorry now.
So I sit,
And I cry,
And I wave,
Wave goodbye, goodbye.
Well, my baby used to be here.
Ooh-hoo.
We didn't have to leave here,
I don't want to be the lone boy.

Attitudes are flying everywhere,
I even told her how to wear her own hair,
And then I stopped making love to her,
Now I would die for a piece of her,
And I know I don't deserve,
Still I'm on my knees.
A week ago I would have never said please.
But now she's loving someone else.
She went from poverty to wealth.
So I sit,
And I cry,
And I wave,
Wave goodbye, goodbye.

I hear our song come on the radio,
I never ever could have felt it more.
What in the world am I gonna do
Without you? Yeah you.

I'm still a loser and I don't know why.
I see my baby and she's looking so fine.
Loved me up until today.
I got so mad, made her go away.
So I sit,
And I cry,
And I wave,
Wave goodbye, goodbye.
