You've been assigned strategically to strip away the pain
And burn it all away
Your double-coated memories uncovered from the past
Defrosting in cliché

Im better off without it, take it all off
Tear away the layers burning underneath my skin

The smell of peeling chlorophyll invades the tinted room
Undressing in decay
Stain from all the technicolored fantasies remain
Erase it all away

Im better off without it, take it all off
Tear my layers burning underneath my skin

You've been allowed specifically to trip and entertain
Im giving you the floor
You sugar-coated souvenir is naked in the rain
I've seen it all before

Im better off without it, take it all off
Tear away the layers burning underneath my skin
