

Bells of Love (Isabelle's of Love)

Erasure

People hiding in the shadows
People stumbling in the dark
Angry shouts and accusations
Broken dreams and broken hearts

What we want
What we need
Is a touch of the healing hand
With a little emotion

Can you hear the bells of love?
One day they'll be loud enough
Someday all the world will hear them ringing
Too much tears and too much pain
I believe we all can change
Hear the bells ring out a new beginning

I don't believe in your religion
I only know what I can see
So many sad, so many lonely
It's only love that sets us free

What we want
What we need
Is a touch of the healing hand
With a little emotion

Can you hear the bells of love?
One day they'll be loud enough
Someday all the world will hear them ringing
Too much tears and too much pain
I believe we all can change
Hear the bells ring out a new beginning

What we want
What we need
Is a touch of the healing hand
With a little emotion

Can you hear the bells of love?
One day they'll be loud enough
Someday all the world will hear them ringing
Too much tears and too much pain
I believe we all can change
Hear the bells ring out a new beginning
