Drake's Ex

Eric Bellinger

You should have known I'd be out here doing shows
I'd be out here on the road, I'll be flying cross the globe
That's your bad
You should have known I'd be out here making money
Now I'm looking like a boss and you're looking like a dummy
That's your bad

Oh, girls is like what the hell was you thinking?
Why you let go? He was everything you needed.
Got that girl feeling like Drake's ex
Should have been patient, now she at home alone
Got that girl feeling like Drake's ex
What she gon do next?
Know she gonna hate this song

Yeah, the house, the clothes, the cars, the chauffeur
You know you could have had it all girl
But now you gone, somebody gon get all that
And you can't be mad at all, no

You should have known that I would be worth the drama
You could have just stayed with me instead of living with your momma
That's your bad
You should have listened when I said them girls is friends
But you set them bitches on you, then you was always tripping
That's your bad

Oh, girls is like what the hell was you thinking?
Why you let go? He was everything you needed.
Got that girl feeling like Drake's ex
Should have been patient, now she at home alone
Got that girl feeling like Drake's ex
What she gon do next?
Know she gonna hate this song

Yeah, the house, the clothes, the cars, the chauffeur
You know you could have had it all girl
But now you gone, somebody gon get all that
And you can't be mad at all, no
