

Never Be The Same

Eric Benét

I've seen the world before
But not with you
I've walked familiar shores
But now they feel brand new
I've kissed the face of love
These fingers traced
But never quite this way

Now laughter I have heard
But not just so
Smiles are known to shine
But never with your glow
I've cried with tears of joy
And felt gods grace
But never in this perfect way

And the world will turn
Like it always has
I will love and learn
As the time will pass
But because you're here
Only one things change
I will never be the same

Answers from the past
I've search to find
And the purpose of my life
Are in your eyes
There are places in my heart
That we now share
That I never knew were there

Now the sun will rise
To morning call
We will live our lives
We will rise and fall
But because you're here
Only one things changed
This world will never be the same

And the world will turn
Like it always has
I will love and learn
As the time will pass
But because your here
Only one things change
I will never be the same

Now the sun will rise
To mornings call
We will live our lives
We will rise and fall
But because you're here
Only one things changed
I will never be the same
This world will never be the same
I will never be the same