

Gasoline

Eric Ethridge

Nobody quits drinking
Sitting at a bar talking with all their friends
Nobody quits smoking
Holding a fresh pack of Marlboro Reds
A song won't leave your head if you just keep it on repeat
You can't let go by holding on, so baby why do we

Keep throwing half drunk, little miss you band aids
Driving across town for a midnight mistake
Back outside and down memory lane
Knowing right where it's going to lead

Keep trying to lose lonely with a kiss in the dark
Keep throwing more salt on a broken heart
Don't know why we still ain't tired
Of trying to put out fires

With gasoline (gasoline, yeah)
With gasoline (gasoline)

Nobody watches a movie over again
Thinking it won't end the same
If we keep losing, yeah
Why do we keep playing the game
We're good at walking out the door, but not keeping it closed
Say, "We can't do this anymore" but damn if we don't both

Keep throwing half drunk, little miss you band aids
Driving across town for a midnight mistake
Back outside and down memory lane
Knowing right where it's going to lead

Keep trying to lose lonely with a kiss in the dark
Keep throwing more salt on a broken heart
Don't know why we still ain't tired of Trying to put out fires

With gasoline
With gasoline

Even when we quit, we still don't stop
Even when you're gone girl, you're not

'Cause we keep throwing half drunk, little miss you band aids
Driving across town for a midnight mistake
Back outside and down memory lane
Knowing right where it's going to lead

Keep trying to lose lonely with a kiss in the dark
Keep throwing more salt on a broken heart
Don't know why we still ain't tired
Of trying to put out fires

With gasoline
With gasoline (gasoline)
With gasoline

Even when we quit, we still don't stop (we still don't stop)
(With gasoline)
Even when you're gone girl, you're not
