I Believe

Eric Martin

Hidden where no one else can see a whirlpool in my heart of my anxiety

So many roads to follow not really sure which one I sould take Anyway, I'm bein' me

For so long, I let others tell me the way say good bye to that part of yesterday

I'll believe myself
cause I know it's what I need Everything begins when I'm believin' in myself
ohh
I'll believe in me
that warm and shining light I see
To the truest thing I know that is where I'm gonna go
I believe

There's People living from day to day a world so caught up within it's lies and phoney frozen smiles

I look at them, then at myself still a child and so naive it sometimes makes me sigh

Wanna be a color, a color, nobody can change make it black, so deep it will never fade

I'll believe myself
cause I know it's what I need
Everything begins when I'm believin' in myself
ohh
I'll believe myself
that warm and shining light I see
To the truest thing I know
that is where I'm gonna go
I believe

In front of me, fill my eyes with the eternal open skies
I wanna know this felling of pureness all my life

I'll believe myself
cause I know it's what I need
Everything begins when I'm believin' in myself
ohh
I'll believe in me
that warm and shining light I see
To the truest thing I know
that is where I'm gonna go

I'll believe myself