

Kansas

Eric Martin

Let's go a little crazy baby
The conversation's petrified Roll away the rock of ages Softens up the rolling eyes Dig out that magic dress those pink flamingo lipstick lips It's you and me baby all over again Let's show the world the things we never lost
and break away the shell that hides the pearl inside us all Even though we're not in Kansas any more Two on the run at twenty- one Copped a dream from a billboard sign Got out of dodge like bullets from a gun Driving with the wheels on fire So here we are swimming with the sharks and playing off the Taj Mahal You know baby I couldn't love you more
Let's show the world the things we never lost
And break away the shell
that hides the pearl inside us all
Even though we're not in Kansas any more Riding on the carousel once upon a time you don't forget however old you get, close to the light but something's never die
