Issues

Eric Reprid

Go blame it on your issues baby
I know nobody can come here and save me
It's always complicated when there's some things that you need to say
Just blame it on your issues baby

Know you like to lie just to get by Keep them J's by my bed just to get high
Can't entertain it if it ain't a good time
You don't need to start explainin' need a good vibe
And I can't count all the times it was all fine
But really you just put your pain in a disguise
Gucci glasses I can't ever turn a blind eye
Drink tequila by the litre like it's red wine (yeah)

Mix uppers with some downers I know your heart is heavy
I can't remember when you were sober

Go blame it on your issues baby
I know nobody can come here and save me
It's always complicated when there's some things that you need
to say
Just blame it on your issues baby

Know it's just one conversation
That you dodge cause you don't wanna say shit
Even silence might need some translation
Give me a day without complications
Cause I ain't tryna own you baby
I'm just tryna get to know you baby Blackin' out at 13 with ya friends cause your home was so broke n baby

And when we get to talkin' you say that you ain't ready
I thought that I already done told ya

Go blame it on your issues baby
I know nobody can come here and save me
It's always complicated when there's some things that you need
to say
Just blame it on your issues baby

Go blame it on your issues baby
Go blame it on your issues baby
It's always complicated when there's some things that you need
to say
Just blame it on your issues baby
