

Darkest Hour

Eric Saade

Hear the sound of falling rain, pouring down in my brain
I can't sleep, turn insane, as I'm going through my darkest hour
Fight the fire in my veins, try to run, but it's all the same
Like I'm lost in this game, as I'm going through my darkest hour
And I need something to numb the pain

Drinking you away, that's my defense
All I see is clouds, don't see you
I don't wanna see your face again
Again, again, again

Looking down at myself, all alone, there is no one else
Try to scream, I need help, as I'm going through my darkest hour
Try to fight for a light, at the end of this broken light
There's a war, in my mind, as I'm going through my darkest hour
And I need something to open my eyes

Drinking you away, that's my defense
All I see is clouds don't see you
I don't wanna lose myself again
Again, again, again

Hear the sound of falling rain, pouring down in my brain
I can't sleep, turn insane, as I'm going through my darkest hour
