

Along the Road Together

Eric Woolfson

I can dream about a promised land
And leave the world behind me
I can hold the future in my hand
No earthly ties to bind me
So I dream about a garden
Where the laughter is forever
Will you come with me and walk awhile
Along the road together

I believe there is a better place
A little piece of heaven
Where the trials of our lives
Are all forgotten and forgiven
And the heavy loads we carry
Can seem lighter than a feather
In the garden we will find someday
Along the road together

I believe we are immortal
And that love can last forever
When I think about the times we've shared
Along the road together
Along the road together
Along the road together
