

Falling From Heaven (Honest)

ericdoa

Guess I'll just be honest with you
I don't wanna spend tonight at home
Got some people that been looking for you, but somehow
You feel like you're still all alone

I'll tell you all my secrets
Some things you'll take away
I understand you haven't seen me in a couple days
I'll leave it all behind
And watch my world decay
And since you came into my life, my skies have cleared from gray
Oh, oh, oh, pick me apart like a rose
Do things I ain't do before, contrast from my highs and lows
You disappear like a ghost, lie and say "That's how it goes"
Stand still, I'm all on my own
Hope I forget on the road

No, I can't worry 'bout the finer things
I know that you're still gon' lie to me
I can't worry 'bout the finer things
I know that you're still gon' lie to me

Guess I'll just be honest with you
I don't wanna spend tonight at home
Got some people that been looking for you, but somehow
You feel like you're still all alone

You tried your best to find your way to me
I'll fall from heaven, baby
I'll do it gracefully
I'm stuck inside the past
The times you hated me
Whatever you say, know, I'll do, I'll follow endlessly
You tried your best to find your way to me
I'll fall from heaven, baby
I'll do it gracefully
I'm stuck inside the past
The times you hated me
Whatever you say, know, I'll do, I'll follow endlessly

Guess I'll just be honest with you
I don't wanna spend tonight at home
Got some people that been looking for you, but somehow
You feel like you're still all alone