Back To Bed

Erik Hassle

Isn't there a fun way
To play this morning on my own
Without the sad parts?

Isn't there a fun way
To let a day begin alone
Right out of nothing?

To start over regardless and stronger
Make this day what you want it to be
That's not me

I go back, back to bed with a sinking head
I return to the start to fill this empty heart
To be back another day, just to try a different way
Right now I'm back to bed whatever you say

Isn't there a fun way like a "Money, money"
With a twist, in different colors?
Isn't there a fun way to wake up
And just get out of bed, and still be dreaming?

And you smile to the face in the mirror
Make this man who you want it to be
But that's not me, of all that's not me

I go back, back to bed with a sinking head
I return to the start to fill this empty heart
To be back another day, just to try a different way
Right now I'm back to bed whatever you say

Whatever you say
Whatever you say
Whatever you, whatever you say
Whatever you say
