

Second

Erika Costell

Don't wanna think about
Don't wanna talk about
The way you let me down
The way you cut me out
That shit was cruel
Yeah, that shit was cruel
If there's a tipping point
I'm already off the edge
Of course I'm sensitive
From all the shit you said
It's easy for you
I never do what you do

So I bite my tongue and I hold my breath
And I do my best not to show that there's only so much I can take
Before I finally break

At any second, any second I could cry
At any second, any second I could die
You put me second, put me second all the time
At any second it feels like I'm gonna lose my mind
At any second, any second I could cry
At any second, any second I could die
You put me second, put me second all the time
At any second it feels like I'm gonna lose my mind

You always come around
Just when I'm feeling good
It's like you're following
My every single move
What's left to do
When there's nothing to lose

So I bite my tongue and I hold my breath
And I do my best not to show that there's only so much I can take
Before I finally break

At any second, any second I could cry
At any second, any second I could die
You put me second, put me second all the time
At any second it feels like I'm gonna lose my mind
At any second, any second I could cry
At any second, any second I could die
You put me second, put me second all the time
At any second it feels like I'm gonna lose my mind

And it's hard to believe
It's true, after all we've been through
That I'm still your two
That I'm still your two
But that's nothing new

At any second, any second I could cry
At any second, any second I could die
You put me second, put me second all the time
At any second it feels like I'm gonna lose my mind
At any second, any second I could cry

At any second, any second I could die
You put me second, put me second all the time
At any second it feels like I'm gonna lose my mind
