Yesterday's Winner Is A Loser Today

Ernest Tubb

The world loves the winners but someone must lose There's bound to be someone left with the blues So why should I worry when you go away yesterday's winner is a loser today Now I now that I find this heart to play fair but somehow I won der if you really care Was it love that you gave dear or just foolish play yesterday's winner is a loser today Now I know there was someone in your life before

And I'm sure it's that someone in your file before And I'm sure it's that someone that you still adore Oh I wish it was different but there's no other way Yesterday's winner is a loser today So goodbye little darling I'm sorry we met it's easy to love bu t so hard to forget Just remember my story here's all I can say yesterday's winner is a loser today
