

There is no place for existence in a world with no hope
Held hands have come undone
We are all on our own
So take this gift
Is any of this enough
Turn and face the sun
Without which we'd die
Will we ever learn by our pasts.