

I try to disappear deep in a darkened grove
Twisted keys open my finality
Dragging weight that cleaves through moments trapped in time
I'm torn apart within this paradigm

Push away
Recanting all belief that my heart would ease the ache of familiar wild in a n idle state

As a lover soars on broken wings
A quiet dark inhabits me
The way I lost the hope you see to the end
Idle wild, idle wild

My fragile mind will crystalize
Impersonate an image
Razor teeth rending skin, encroaching dread
Oscillating fates are weaving in the thicket
Darkened nights to paralyze

Descend

I will reclaim
My familiar wild from its idle state

As a lover soars on broken wings
A quiet dark inhabits me
The way I lost the hope you see to the end
Idle wild, idle wild

As a lover soars on broken wings
A quiet dark inhabits me
The way I lost the hope you see to the end
Idle wild, idle wild

You see to the end
I'm not the only one who waits alone
I'm not the only one
Idle wild

As a lover soars on broken wings
A quiet dark inhabits me
The way I lost the hope you see to the end
Idle wild, idle wild

As a lover soars on broken wings
A quiet dark inhabits me
The way I lost the hope you see to the end
Idle wild, idle wild

I'm not the only one who waits
The way I lost the hope you see to the end
Idle wild, idle wild