

Separate And Coalesce

Erra

I've seen the eyes of men turn from blue to gray
I've felt their hearts stand still from life to death
Truth is something lost beyond the grave
Corrupted thoughts now hold us in chains
This is our chance to rise
Before the building crumbles, before we die
Hand and hand join us together this last second Let's reconcile what was this place and rebuild the bridge That joins us
We're reaching out and hoping for something to hold us still
Searching for something an answer to nothing to make this Clear
Your life meant more to me than this world in its entirety
Before the building crumbles, before we die
Join us together this last second
Join us one last time
Hand and hand
Forever.