

I'm all in shambles
Subway in hell
A poor man sleeps
In his spew

I watch you tangle
Laying in your lap
There's something hidden in your bag

I used to think that you'd string me along
The unknowing made me miserable
But you were crocheting something beautiful
On our way to the thrill

I have this dream
Where we wake up together
We both surrender
Our bodies tethered
To one big wheel of death

You hand me the present
Wrapped in fluorescent
And ask me the question
On top of Luna Park

This time is different
I caught you say
After our summer spent apart

Now your brother hates me
You told me it'll pass
As we sewed up all the gaps

You're the sandbar and I'm the lagoon
'Cause the ripples, they don't hurt as much with you

Hiding from the stars at night
Through city shrill, I slept so tight
'Cause you burned all our lullabies on a CD

And asked me if we could
Wake up together
Through any weather
Through every endeavor
On top of Luna Park

I wrote u a letter
With ink and feather
Let's sleep forever
On top of Luna Park

Let's sleep forever
On top of Luna Park
On top of Luna Park
