Turn To Dust

Europe

All the things I never said written down In letters never sent but stashed away All the time I didn't spend with you Is forever gone, but not today

There is no need for hesitation The end is the same for all of us We turn to dust

Crazy how regrets and guilt remain
And constantly control the subtleties
Through years the tears and skeletons erode
We try to take it back but the clock ticks on

Like Centuries of fires forever burning Like mountains of ore have gone to rust We turn to dust

Throughout our lives situations change So many things I didn't say And when I'm gone to whatever fate You'll carry me on

There is no need for hesitation
The end is the same for all of us
We turn to dust
