

Empty On The Inside

Evan Honer

If you need me let me know I'll be sitting by the phone
Waiting on your call
And if you need a place to stay the ground is where I'll lay
Take me bed take it all

I guess fate wasn't in our favor
And time pulled us apart
I'm not angry I don't hate ya
We were broken from the start

Take a close look at my heart see that it's empty on the inside
Where our love died and I ain't been the same since
Take close look at my mind see that it's scattered on the inside
e
But I can't hide how I'm the one to blame

It's a quarter past the time you said you'd call
Now I'm getting tired babe and I'm losing sleep
But I'd do anything to hear your voice right now
'Cause it's lonely in this house from your leaving

I guess fate wasn't in our favor
And time pulled us apart
I'm not angry I don't hate ya
We were broken from the start

Take a close look at my heart see that it's empty on the inside
Where our love died and I ain't been the same since
Take close look at my mind see that it's scattered on the inside
e
But I can't hide how I'm the one to blame

You were perfect I was worthless took a while but you discern it
Let you down and you loss count nobody's destined to deserve this

Take a close look at my heart see that it's empty on the inside
Where our love died and I ain't been the same since
Take close look at my mind see that it's scattered on the inside
e
But I can't hide how I'm the one to blame
