

Scared To Love Again

Evan Honer

I've been blocking out peace holding on to thoughts of you
I've been building back walls that I let you tear into
You been raising hell was that night worth it in the end
'Cause all you did was make a man scared to love again

I've been biting my tongue hoping that there's more to it
I want to know but I don't cause I think it'll make me sick
Crying on the phone what the hell are you crying for
I fell for you last time but I won't fall no more

How did you move on so easy?
How did you withdraw all our feelings?
In a matter of minutes you cut a wound too deep to mend
In a matter of minutes you made a man scared to love again
Scared to love again

I've been filling my head up with all that I can find
The good, the bad, the between all the memories left to die
Now it's hard to tell if you meant a single word you said
'Cause all you did was make a man scared to love again

How did you move on so easy?
How did you withdraw all our feelings?
In a matter of minutes you cut a wound too deep to mend
In a matter of minutes you made a man scared to love again
Scared to love again

How did you move on so easy?
How did you withdraw all our feelings?
In a matter of minutes you cut a wound too deep to mend
In a matter of minutes you made a man scared to love again
Scared to love again