

Jet Pack

EVE 6

You're the one stepping on the back of my shoes
You're the one using me as a muse You're the one with the jet pack strapped to your back ready to go

It's you and her and nobody else the lights are low and she's s o ready You're already on your way to the door You're at the bar the tender gives you a free drink and winks, she's perfect
You sweat bullets, spill the drink and you leave Everyone leaves the party except a gorgeous twenty something, y ou turn and run
You call me up

You're the one stepping on the back of my shoes
You're the one using me as a muse
You're the one with the jet pack strapped to your back ready to

So the way you act, is it just an act or some strange courtship ritual
A habitual nervous reaction Hey it's just me, set yourself free, why don't you let me know what's going on Inside your cluttered head

You're the one stepping on the back of my shoes
You're the one using me as a muse
You're the one with the jet pack strapped to your back ready to

What the hell are you talking about is that what you would say
If I were to wonder out loud would it make you turn away
Just a curious question

If it was you and me and nobody else would you want me to want to be ready to go Would you want to take the lights down low

You're the one stepping on the back of my shoes
You're the one using me as a muse
You're the one with the jet pack strapped to your back ready to

Hey it's just me, set yourself free, why don't you let me know
what's going on
Hey it's just me, set yourself free
