

The Night Within

Evergrey

When you look at me who do you see?
And do I look as empty as I feel?
I never felt I had that someone, nowhere to place my trust
Just needed someone

So let me be your spark
I will know how to help you
Let me share your dark
I was just like you
No one could get through

With no one to believe in
All I knew was not to feel and my search for purpose ended reasoning
So I felt that I was lying, never had something satisfy me
I was building castles in here
With kingdom walls to hide the real me
And I don't know if I felt what you feel
I was someone else then
I was feeling very strange then
I was always feeling lost
I was always feeling lost

So let me be your spark
I will know how to help you
Let me share your dark
I was just like you
No one could get through

You need to leave the night, let darkness fall
Be the light that leaves the night within
And if there's nothing here that you can feel is real
Then you keep searching 'til there is

Let me be the start
Of the end of your hurting
Let me share your dark
I have also been where the dark feels never-ending

You need to leave the night, let darkness fall
Be the light that leaves the night within
And if there's nothing here that you can feel is real
Then you keep searching 'til there is
