

Where August Mourns

Evergrey

Winter came
From cold to frozen
Disguised in white
The Arctic Ocean
Along came night
Confined and closing
Too long to touch
And opposed to opening

It came from nothingness
I never got a chance to flee
Never saw it coming
And just needed it to leave me be
I was safe in freedom
From safe to all alone
Like life had planned to desert me
Since day one

If I'm just aching this can't go on
I came from chasing dreams to feel alone
There must be changes, miss to feel strong
I really need life to touch me

I came too far for my long lost heart
It got too dark
It went too far
Price for truth
Were sacrifices I needed to do
A heartfelt leave
It offered peace

If I'm just aching this can't go on
I came from chasing dreams to feel alone
There must be changes, miss to feel strong
I really need life to touch me
There must be reasons I'm on my own
I really need life to find me
There must be changes, miss to feel strong
I really need life to touch me

It came from nothingness
I never got a chance to flee
Never saw it coming
And just needed it to leave me be
Need freedom, won't be this alone
Like life had planned to desert me
Since day one

If I'm just aching this can't go on
I went from chasing dreams to all alone
A change of season where August mourn
I really need life to touch me

If I'm just aching this can't go on
I came from chasing dreams to feel alone
There must be changes, miss to feel strong
I really need life to touch me

There must be reasons I'm on my own
I really need life to find me
There must be changes, miss to feel strong
I really need life to touch me
