

Running

Evermore

Too many words, too many lies
I can't quite see the truth
When I look into your eyes
I feel I could
And I know I should
Step away, turn around
Let my feet hit the ground
Running
Running
Running
Running

You don't need a broken heart
To know a heart can be broken
You just need to open your eyes
We don't need to be deceived
To know a lie can be spoken
We don't have to learn everything twice

I don't know, I really don't know
If this castle in the sand
Is strong enough to stand

Clouds come down
Clouds come down

I feel I could
And I know I should
Step away, turn around

Let my feet hit the ground
Running
Running
Running
Running

You don't need a broken heart
To know a heart can be broken
You just need to open your eyes
We don't need to be deceived
To know a lie can be spoken
We don't have to learn everything twice

Cos I know how it feels
All the pain is so real
Cos you sink and you drown
'Till your feet hit the ground
Running
Running
Running
Running

Cos you don't need a broken heart
To know a heart can be broken
You just need to open your eyes
And we don't need a TV show
To show us which way to go

We just need to do what we know

Whoa