

Our true nature is peace ('Cause our true nature is peace)

We're not here permanently
Our true nature is peace (Our true nature is peace)
From confusion can come wisdom
You become so unhappy you start to get into a liquid
Sir, advice, we can't win
Something has to tie us together
Sometimes bad happens and you realize you were actually happy
If we don't invite the humor in through the front door
It will take off the wall
This moment can be hell or it can be heaven
They're both made of the same stuff
All these linguistics are never enough

Appreciating the loss
And how short the life is made me more aligned within you
Made me more annoying and less patient
When you're expressing less patient for of bullshit
When you're expressing something
I mean, start doing you're transforming, working it out
I mean parts of it were very chaotic
You don't belong to me
And to love you, but I've already lost you
Terrifying and liberating
It was the little me that missed them
So I had grief that, man, it hurt
'Cause I've done that, that's happens with you and I, with my children
We come into this life stumbling forward
We're already in the bullshit, we are the bullshit
Tomorrow, we're gonna see if it's the same as yours
We're share the same beliefs
But everyone's our brother and sister
You know, and a Little dog, Boba?
